recommendations. what would you like to know:

What skills should I focus on first?

Based on your profile and interest in Digital Marketing Manager, I recommend focusing on SEO first. This is a foundational skill that will open up more learning opportunities. You can start with online courses and practice projects.

How long will it take to become job-ready?

Based on your current skills and dedication, you could become job-ready in 6-12 months with consistent learning. This includes completing 2-3 major courses, building a portfolio of projects, and gaining practical experience through internships or freelance work.
